The Methodist Church Parsonage is a two and one-half story gable roofed painted brick residence laid in common bond which faces west from the east side of Route 85 in Buckeystown.

The principle facade is five bays wide. The main entrance, an arched paneled door with two light transom and recessed paneling is located in the third bay.

Occupying the remaining bays on both the first and second levels are arched 2/2 windows with louvered shutters and keystone brick detailing over the windows. The main block of the residence is two bays deep with a two story original addition forming an ell to the rear of the building. The entire residence is built on a low rubble stone foundation and is covered by a patterned fishscale slate flank gable roof with front gable. The roof is supported by a boxed cornice with return and dentiled frieze. Single whitewashed corbeled chimneys straddle the gables on the north and south ends of the building.
